Seven-month-old Yoneling lives in Nicaragua with her siblings and often gets sick with colds and fever that her mother, Aleyda, suspects come from mosquito bites. “When it rains, the mosquitoes follow them around and sit all over their body,” she said.

Aleyda has no work and can’t afford to provide the food and medical attention her daughter needs to fight off illnesses.

Your gifts give children like Yoneling the nutrition and the care that they so desperately need to grow up healthy.
